The International English Language Testing System (IELTS) is designed to assess the language ability of people who want to study or work where English is the language of communication.

IELTS is recognised by more than 10,000 organisations including educational institutions, employers, professional associations and governments, in more than 140 countries around the world.

Accessible and convenient
Available from more than 1,200 locations in 140 countries, there’s an IELTS test near you. To find out test dates in your area, please contact your nearest IELTS test centre. A list of IDP IELTS test locations is available at IELTSSentials.com/testcentres.

The international test
IELTS is internationally focused in its content. For example, texts and tasks are sourced from publications from all over the English-speaking world; a range of native-speaker accents (North American, Australian, New Zealand, etc.) are used in the Listening test; and all standard varieties of English are accepted in test takers’ written and spoken responses.

The test that’s tried and trusted
IELTS has been developed by some of the world’s leading experts in language assessment and is supported by an extensive program of research, validation and test development.

The level of the test
IELTS is designed to assess English language skills across a wide range of levels. There is no ‘pass’ or ‘fail’ in IELTS. Results are reported as band scores on a scale of 1 (the lowest) to 9 (the highest).

Introducing computer-delivered IELTS
You now have the choice between taking IELTS on paper or on computer.

With computer-delivered IELTS there are more test dates and sessions available, allowing you to choose a test time most convenient for you.

- Results in 5-7 days
- More tests, more days of the week
- Face-to-face Speaking test

Understanding IELTS Academic and IELTS General Training

Before booking your test, understand if you need IELTS Academic or IELTS General Training.

IELTS is available in two different versions: Academic and General Training. Each organisation that accepts IELTS will normally specify which version of IELTS you will need for your application. In some cases either IELTS Academic or IELTS General Training may be accepted. If you are in doubt as to which to take, you should contact the organisation you are applying to in order to check their requirements.

In both IELTS Academic and IELTS General Training tests, you are tested on all four language skills – Listening, Reading, Writing and Speaking – unless you have an exemption due to a disability. Everyone takes the same Listening and Speaking tests. There are different Reading and Writing tests for IELTS Academic and IELTS General Training.

Tips for your Listening test

Listening test format, 30 minutes

The Listening section is the same for both versions of IELTS (Academic and General Training). There are four parts. You will hear the recording only once. A variety of voices and native-speaker accents are used.

Section 1: A conversation between two people set in an everyday social context (e.g. a conversation about accommodation).

Section 2: A monologue set in an everyday social context (e.g. a speech about local facilities or about arrangements for meals during a conference).

Section 3: A conversation between up to four people set in an educational or training context (e.g. a university tutor and a student discussing an assignment, or a group of people planning a project).

Section 4: A talk (e.g. a university lecture).

Tips

1. At the beginning of each section read the questions for that section carefully, before the recording starts. This will help you to follow the recording and identify the answers.
2. After completing a section, it is better to look ahead and read the questions for the next section than to worry about the last section.
3. You will sometimes have a list of options to choose from as answers. The possible answers may be listed in alphabetical order and not necessarily in the order you will hear them.
4. Be careful to note word limits. If there is an instruction: Write no more than two words, writing more than two words will mean you will receive no marks at all for your answer, even if some of the words are correct.
5. Try to listen for key words or synonyms (words that have the same or nearly the same meaning as another word) from the question to help you identify the answer. For example, in the recording you might hear: “She likes going to the gym and playing tennis”. On your answer sheet/screen (in computer-delivered IELTS), this could appear as “She is an active person.”
6. You may be asked to write down words that have been spelled out in the recording. In order to do this well, you need to know the English alphabet and how each letter is pronounced (for example, the letter ‘W’ is pronounced as ‘double-u’).
7. Listen carefully for words that indicate which stage of the recording you are listening to, e.g. ‘firstly’, ‘my next point’, ‘to sum up’. These words will help you identify which question you have reached.
8. As you are listening to the recording, cross out options that don’t fit. This makes it easier for you to find the right answer.
9. If you are writing dates as an answer to any question, remember that there are several correct ways to write them (e.g. 24th April, April 24 and 24 April are all correct).
10. If there are questions you cannot answer leave them and move on to the next question. This will help you to stay calm and positive. Go back to those questions at the end, if you have time.
11. In paper-based IELTS, after the last recording has ended you have 10 minutes to transfer your answers from the Listening booklet to your answer sheet. Don’t make the mistake of copying these answers across to the answer sheet in between sections or you may miss important information about the next section of the test. Wait until the end of Section 4 before transferring your answers.

Note: There is no 10 minutes of transfer time for computer-delivered IELTS.
There are three sections, each containing one long text. The texts are all real and are taken from books, magazines and newspapers. They have been written for a non-specialist audience and are on academic topics of general interest, which means you do not need specialist knowledge to do well.

The texts are appropriate to, and accessible to, candidates entering undergraduate or postgraduate courses or seeking professional registration.

Texts range from the descriptive and factual to the discursive and analytical. Texts may contain non-verbal materials such as diagrams, graphs or illustrations.

If texts contain technical terms, then a simple glossary is provided.

1. To improve your performance in the Reading test you need to practise reading a variety of English texts. This will help you develop the ability to read quickly.
2. Read every question carefully first before reading the passages. This will make it easier for you to find the answers. Underline possible answers as you go. In computer-delivered IELTS, you can highlight or make notes on a section of text.
3. When you come to reading the passage, read it quickly the first time in order to get a general idea of what it’s about. Don’t worry about words you do not understand. Then read each question again to remind yourself which parts of the passage you will need to read again in detail.
4. The Reading passages always contain the information you need to answer the question. You won’t have to use your own knowledge of a topic.
5. If you are copying words from a question or reading passage to use in your answer, remember that your spelling must be accurate.
6. The Reading test may sometimes include questions that test your overall understanding of a passage. For example, the question may ask what the topic of a particular passage is. Try underlining or highlighting key words and ideas in each paragraph as you read to help you understand the key message of each passage.
7. Circle, underline or highlight key words as you read. For example, if a reading passage contains many place names or dates, circle or highlight them as you go along. This will make it easier to find these details later if they come up in any of the questions.
8. If you are asked to label a diagram, you will find the words you need in the text. Be sure to copy them carefully from the text with the correct spelling.
9. If there are questions you cannot answer, leave them and move on to the next question. This will help you to stay calm and positive. Go back to those questions at the end, if you have time.
10. In paper-based IELTS, make sure you write down your answers for the Reading test on the answer sheet – not the question paper. There will be no extra time to transfer your answers after the Reading test.
Tips for your Writing test

Writing test format – IELTS Academic, 60 minutes

There are two parts. Responses to Task 1 and Task 2 should be written in an academic, semi-formal or neutral style.

Task 1: You are presented with a graph, table, chart or diagram and are asked to summarise and report the information in your own words. You may be asked to select and compare data, describe the stages of a process, describe an object or how something works.

Task 2: You are asked to write an essay in response to a point of view, argument or problem. Task 2 contributes twice as much as Task 1 to the Writing score.

The issues raised are of general interest to, suitable for and easily understood by test takers entering undergraduate or postgraduate studies or seeking professional registration.

1. In your Writing test there are no right or wrong answers or opinions. The examiners are assessing how well you can use your English to report information and express ideas.
2. Analyse the questions carefully to make sure your answer addresses all the points covered by the question.
3. Notice the minimum word limit. If you write less than 150 words for Task 1 and less than 250 for Task 2, you will lose marks.
4. Be careful to use your own words because the examiner will not include words copied from the question in the word count.
5. You must write both your answers in full, not in note form or in bullet points. You must arrange your ideas in paragraphs to show the examiner that you are able to organise your main and supporting points.
6. You do not have to write very long sentences to do well in your Writing test. If sentences are too long, they will become less coherent and also make it harder for you to control the grammar.
7. In Academic Writing Task 1 you have to select and compare relevant information from data presented in a graph, table or diagram. In your introduction, do not copy the text from the question. Use your own words. You shouldn’t try to interpret or give reasons for the data; keep your response factual.
8. Task 2 of the Academic Writing test is an essay. Don’t forget to plan your essay structure before you start writing. You should include an introduction, ideas to support your argument or opinion, real-life examples to illustrate your points, and a conclusion based on the information you have provided.
9. You have 40 minutes to write your Task 2 essay. Make sure you give yourself up to five minutes to plan your answer before you start writing. Also leave five minutes at the end to review your answer and check for mistakes.
10. Make your position or point of view as clear as possible in your essay for Academic Writing Task 2. Your last paragraph should be a conclusion that is consistent with the arguments you have included in your essay.
11. Memorising a model answer for the Writing test won’t help you. The examiner will see that your answer does not match the topic of the essay.
12. Many candidates confuse singular and plural nouns. For example, the plural form for many nouns includes an ‘s’ – students, journals, articles, issues. Pay attention to this when writing/typing (in computer-delivered IELTS).
13. Take care to spell words correctly. Standard American, Australian and British spellings are acceptable in IELTS.
The Speaking section is the same for both versions of IELTS (Academic and General Training). In computer-delivered IELTS, the Speaking test remains face-to-face with a certified IELTS examiner. There are three parts. The test is recorded.

Part 1: Introduction and interview (4–5 minutes). The examiner introduces him/herself and asks you to introduce yourself and confirm your identity. The examiner asks you general questions on familiar topics (e.g. family, work, studies and interests).

Part 2: Individual long turn (3–4 minutes). The examiner gives you a task card that asks you to talk about a particular topic and which includes points you can cover in your talk. You are given one minute to prepare your talk, and you are given a pencil and paper to make notes. You talk for one to two minutes on the topic. The examiner then asks you one or two questions on the same topic.

Part 3: Two-way discussion (4–5 minutes). The examiner asks further questions that are connected to the topic of Part 2. This gives you an opportunity to discuss more general issues and ideas.

Tips for your Speaking test

1. In the lead up to the Speaking test, make sure you take the time to practise speaking English – with friends, at work and on the phone. You should also consider recording yourself, so that you are confident speaking English during your test.

2. There are no right or wrong answers in the Speaking test. The examiner will assess you on how well you can express your ideas and opinions in good English.

3. It will help you to feel relaxed if you imagine you are talking to a friend. Remember that you are not being assessed on your opinions, rather on your use of English.

4. Try to avoid repeating the words used in the examiner’s question. Use your own words to show the examiner your full ability.

5. Speak clearly and at a natural pace. If you speak too quickly, you may make mistakes or pronounce words incorrectly.

6. Answer in as much detail as you can. Don’t just answer ‘yes’ or ‘no’. Try to develop your response to each question – draw on your own experience and give examples. The examiner wants to hear whether you can talk at length on a range of topics.

7. Use the correct verb tense when answering questions in the Speaking test. Listen carefully to the question and notice which verb tense is used. For example, if the question is ‘What kind of music do you like?’ (in the present tense) your answer should also be in the present tense (e.g. ‘I like pop music best’). You can go on to use other tenses as you extend your response, e.g. ‘I haven’t always enjoyed that kind of music...’

8. Practise the pronunciation of numbers to be sure that your meaning is clear. For example, many numbers can sound very similar when spoken, so be sure to say them clearly, e.g. ‘Thirty’ and ‘Thirteen’, ‘Forty’ and ‘Fourteen’, ‘Fifty’ and ‘Fifteen’, etc.

9. It is better to use simple, commonly used vocabulary and to use it correctly than to use advanced vocabulary that you are unsure about. However, to get a high score, you must show you know how to use more advanced vocabulary.

10. In Part 2, the examiner will give you a task card and some paper. You then have one minute to prepare your answer. First think about the topic and then decide which is the most appropriate tense to use in your response. You should use the same tense(s) as the questions on the card.

11. Try to answer as fully as possible and give reasons for your answers. This will help you to use a wider range of vocabulary and grammar.

How your skills are assessed

There is no pass or fail in an IELTS test – your test results provide a profile of your ability to use English.

The nine-band scoring system
IELTS uses a nine-band scoring system to measure your test results. You will receive individual scores for each of the four skills in Listening, Reading, Writing and Speaking, and an overall band score on a scale of 1 (the lowest) to 9 (the highest).

Marking performance fairly
Examiners do not see any of your personal details (including any previous scores if you have sat the test before), which ensures that they mark your performance anonymously and fairly. Different examiners also mark different sections of your test.

Assessed by highly qualified examiners
Your test results are assessed by examiners who are highly qualified and experienced English language professionals. They work to clearly defined criteria and are subject to extensive and detailed quality control procedures.

Global assessment criteria
Your IELTS test is marked with the same assessment criteria used all over the world. You are no more likely to receive a higher band score in one country than another.

Whether you take IELTS on paper or computer, you can be confident that you are taking the same trusted English language test.

      • presents and adequately highlights key features/bullet points but details may be irrelevant, inappropriate or inaccurate | • arranges information and ideas coherently and there is a clear overall progression
      • uses cohesive devices appropriately although there may be some under-/over-use
      • may be repetitive because of lack of referencing and substitution | • uses an adequate range of vocabulary for the task
      • attempts to use less common vocabulary but with some inaccuracy
      • makes some errors in spelling and/or word formation, but they do not impede communication | • uses only a limited range of structures
      • attempts complex sentences but these tend to be less accurate than simple sentences
      • may make frequent grammatical and punctuation errors; some structure is accurate but errors predominate, and punctuation is often faulty |
| 5    | • generally addresses the task; the format may be inappropriate in places
      • (A) recounts detail mechanically with no clear overview; there may be no data to support the description
      • (GT) may present a purpose for the letter that is unclear at times; the tone may be variable and sometimes inappropriate
      • presents, but inadequately covers, key features/ bullet points
      • there may be a tendency to focus on details | • presents information with some organisation but there may be a lack of overall progression
      • makes inadequate, inaccurate or over-use of cohesive devices
      • may be repetitive because of lack of referencing and substitution | • uses a limited range of vocabulary, but this is minimally adequate for the task
      • may make noticeable errors in spelling and/or word formation that may cause some difficulty for the reader | • uses a mix of simple and complex sentence forms
      • makes some errors in grammar and punctuation but they rarely reduce communication |
| 4    | • attempts to address the task but does not cover all key features/bullet points; the format may be inappropriate
      • (GT) fails to clearly explain the purpose of the letter; the tone may be inappropriate
      • may confuse key features/bullet points with detail; parts may be unclear, irrelevant, repetitive or inaccurate | • presents information and ideas but these are not arranged coherently and there is no clear progression in the response
      • uses some basic cohesive devices but these may be inaccurate or repetitive
      • may use a very limited range of cohesive devices, and those used may not indicate a logical relationship between ideas | • uses only basic vocabulary which may be used repetitively or which may be inappropriate for the task
      • has limited control of word formation and/or spelling
      • errors may cause strain for the reader | • uses only a very limited range of structures with only rare use of subordinate clauses
      • may make frequent grammatical errors and punctuation may be faulty; errors can cause some difficulty for the reader |
| 3    | • fails to address the task, which may have been completely misunderstood
      • presents limited ideas which may be largely irrelevant/repetitive
      • does not organise ideas logically
      • may use a very limited range of cohesive devices, and those used may not indicate a logical relationship between ideas | • uses only a very limited range of words and expressions with very limited control of word formation and/or spelling
      • errors may severely distort the message | • attempts sentence forms but errors in grammar and punctuation predominate and distort the meaning | • attempts sentence forms except in memorised phrases |
| 2    | • answer is barely related to the task
      • has very little control of organisational features
      • uses an extremely limited range of vocabulary, essentially no control of word formation and/or spelling | • uses a totally memorised response
      • writes a totally memorised response | • cannot use sentence forms at all | • cannot use sentence forms at all |
| 1    | • answer is completely unrelated to the task
      • fails to communicate any message
      • can only use a few isolated words | | | |
| 0    | • does not attend
      • does not attempt the task in any way
      • writes a totally memorised response | | | |

Sample speaking tests

Your Speaking test is designed to assess your use of spoken English. Examiners use detailed assessment criteria to assess your performance. You will be assessed according to four criteria in your Speaking test: Fluency and Coherence, Lexical Resource, Grammatical Range and Accuracy, and Pronunciation.

IELTS preparation checklist

Preparing for IELTS takes time and requires practise.

Before booking your test for the first time, or re-sitting the test again, ask yourself whether you have taken the necessary steps to ensure you have the best opportunity to succeed. Follow these tips in the months and weeks before your test and you will feel more confident and ready to take the test.

| Improve your English | |
|• Taking an English language course is one of the quickest ways to improve your English. The feedback you receive from your teacher will help you improve the specific skills involved in Listening, Reading, Writing and Speaking English. | |
|• Test preparation is different to an English language course, as it will not help improve your English. An IELTS preparation course can help you familiarise yourself with the types of tasks included in an IELTS test. Ask your local IELTS test centre for more information about a preparation course near you. | |

| Use your English every day | |
|• Listen to English language radio, television and film. You should try to listen to a variety of English accents including American, Australian, British, Canadian and New Zealand. | |
|• Read English publications such as newspapers and magazines regularly. | |
|• Write letters, emails or notes in English whenever possible. | |
|• Speak English with your friends and family. | |

| Practise with sample questions | |
|• Practise the free IELTS test sample available at IELTSSentials.com/prepare | |
|• Purchase additional online practise tests available at IELTSProgesscheck.com (only available in selected countries). | |
|• Free computer-delivered IELTS practice materials available at IELTSSentials.com/oncomputer will give you an idea of what to expect in the computer-delivered Listening, Reading and Writing tests. | |
|• Use the Official IELTS Practice Materials (two books available), which include sample questions and sample responses with examiner comments. Purchase these online or from your local test centre. | |
|• There is a wide range of IELTS preparation material available for purchase at bookshops and online. For a list of popular books visit IELTSSentials.com/purchase | |

| The day before the test | |
|• Re-read the Information for Candidates booklet and Notice to Candidates again to ensure that you understand the test format and rules. | |
|• Plan your journey – ensure you know how to get to the test venue so that you arrive in time. Also get plenty of rest the night before your test to help you feel more relaxed on the day. | |

| Test day | |
|• Allow plenty of time to travel to the test venue to ensure you arrive on time. | |
|• Bring your passport/national identity card with you. You must have the same identification that you provided on your IELTS Application Form or you will not be able to take the test. | |
|• Bring stationery: pencils and erasers that you need for the test. | |
What to expect on test day

Understand how a test day is run so that you arrive prepared and can focus on doing your best.

The Listening, Reading and Writing tests are always taken on the same day, in the same session. The order in which these tests are taken may vary. The Speaking test may be taken on the same day or up to seven days before or after the written tests, depending on your test centre.

The IELTS test implements sophisticated biometric security measures that protect test takers and organisations from attempts to cheat. Below is an overview of what you can expect on test day.

Arrive early
You should arrive early for your test in order to allow time for you to register and be seated for the test. Please refer to your booking confirmation for details. If you arrive late, you may not be allowed to take the test.

ID check
When you register on test day, a member of staff will check your identification (ID). Your ID must be the same ID that you used when you booked the test. It must also be valid (unexpired) and have a recognisable photo of yourself. If you booked your test at a test centre then a photograph and finger scan may have been taken already. If not, these will be taken when you arrive on test day. Before you enter the test room, your finger will be scanned again to verify your identity.

Breaks
You are not permitted to leave while instructions are being given by the invigilator. If you need to leave the test room to go to the bathroom at any other time, raise your hand and ask a staff member.

Check in your personal items
No personal items can be taken into the test room (except for religious reasons). Test day staff will collect and safely store your personal belongings. Items that are forbidden from the test room include: mobile phones, wrist watches, hand-held computers, cameras, hats, scarves, wallets, books, notes and food.

Entering the test room
When it is time to enter the test room, a test invigilator will guide you to your seat. Do not write any notes. You are not permitted to speak to any other test takers. If you have a question, put up your hand and a member of staff will assist you. On your desk, you are only allowed to have drink that is in a transparent bottle.

Asking for help
If you have a problem (e.g. if you think you have been given the wrong paper, you cannot hear the instructions, or you feel ill) raise your hand to attract the attention of the invigilators. Please note that the invigilator will not provide any explanation of the questions.

End of the test
You cannot leave your seat until you have been instructed to leave. If you finish early you must wait quietly until the test is finished and you are advised that you can leave. You must leave any notes and materials on the desk. Collect your belongings before you leave the test centre.

Getting your results
In computer-delivered IELTS, your provisional results will be available in 5-7 days.

In paper-based IELTS, your provisional results will be available online 13 calendar days after the test.

You can check your results at https://results.ieltsessentials.com/

You can collect your Test Result Form from the test centre or have it posted to you depending on what was specified at the time of registration.
Receiving your results

You will receive a Test Report Form, which reports a score for each of the four skills (Listening, Reading, Writing, and Speaking), as well as an overall band score.

Half band scores may be awarded to indicate a strong performance within a particular band. You can find more information on score processing and score interpretation at IELTSeSSentials.com/criteria.

You will receive only one copy of the Test Report Form. It’s important that you keep it safe as replacement Test Report Forms cannot be issued.

You can request for copies of your Test Result Form to be sent directly up to five recognizing organizations (academic institutions / government agencies / professional bodies / employers) per application. The Test Report Form will not be sent to migration or education agents.

Copies of your Test Report Form are available for up to two years from your test date.

To request copies of your Test Report Form, speak with your test centre.

If you are unhappy with your test result, you can apply for a re-mark (Enquiry on Results) at the centre where you took the test. You must make the application no later than six weeks after the test date. You can choose which test sections are re-marked. There is a fee for this service, which will be refunded if your score on any section is increased. Enquiries on Results take two weeks to complete.

Organisations will not usually accept a Test Report Form that is more than two years old unless you provide evidence that you have actively maintained or tried to improve your English since taking the test. The IELTS Test Partners cannot confirm the validity of test results that are more than two years old.

When you log on to results.ieltessentials.com to see your results, you will be able to receive feedback on your performance for each of the skills. You will also receive advice on how to improve your performance in order to attain the next level. This advice is to be used for guidance only.

In paper-based IELTS, you can preview your results online 13 calendar days after the test. In computer-delivered IELTS, you can preview your test results online in 5-7 days. Results remain online for 28 days. Please note that the online preview of results should not be used as an official confirmation of your performance.

Re-taking IELTS

There are no restrictions on re-taking the tests. You can register for a test as soon as you feel you are ready to do so. Please note that your score is unlikely to increase unless you make a significant effort to improve your English before re-taking the test. More information is available from IELTSeSSentials.com/resitting.
